DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 23-27 & 29 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Anderson (USPN 5,167,903) in view of EP (1,391,080).

Anderson discloses a worktable used in conjunction with a water table. Removable support bars (20) are attached to a tray (2) having an attachment cutout (i.e. a void) and vertical slots (16). The worktable may be immersed in the water or above the water during the cutting of a metal plate. The tray is connected to a conveyor (figure 19).

Anderson does not specifically teach the fold of the support.

EP ('080) discloses a laser cutting whereby the workpiece is supported on a knife-edged support. The support elements are constructed in the forms of strips and are connected by means of pins and spacers to form a support unit. The upper part of the right hand side is beveled and for an angle (α) with the other straight side. The knife-edged support has tip angle (α) which is 6° or less. This angle obviates interfering reflections from the laser-cutting beam. The supports are made of aluminum (light weight metal) or copper. In addition, shielding gas may pass through the support element.

It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to fold or angle the support, as taught by EP ('080) in the Anderson system because this angle/fold angle obviates interfering reflections from the laser-cutting beam.

Substitution of known equivalent structures. In re Ruff 118 USPQ 343 (CCPA 1958).

It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to shape, size or form the prior art product any shape, size or form, because change of shape, size and form has been held an obvious variant in any art. In re Rose 105 USPQ 137.

Changes of proportions were held obvious. In re Reese 129 USPQ 402; In re Fields 134 USPQ 242.

Making elements adjustable was held to have been obvious. In re Stevens 101 USPQ 284.

Rearrangement of parts was held to have been obvious. In re Japikse 86 USPQ 70.

Intended use has been continuously held not to be germane to determining the patentability of the apparatus, In re Finsterwalder, 168 USPQ 530.

The manner or method in which a machine is to be utilized is not germane to the issue of patentability of the machine itself, In re Casey, 152 USPQ 235, 238.

Purpose to which an apparatus is to be put and expression relating apparatus to contents thereof during intended operation are not significant in determining patentability of an apparatus claim, Ex parte Thibault, 164 USPQ 666.

A recitation with respect to the manner in which a claimed apparatus is intended to be employed does not differentiate the claimed apparatus from a prior art apparatus satisfying the claimed structural limitations, Ex parte Masham, 2 USPQ 2d 1647.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 3-6, 9-14 & 28 are allowed.

The following is a statement of reasons for the indication of allowable subject matter: the prior art does not teach a slat for a laser beam cutting machine table that specifically has a first part with a free upper edge, a second oblique part for deflecting the laser beam having a direction of incidence perpendicular to a supporting plane at a distance from the supporting plane and a third part on a plane parallel to the first part and oblique to second oblique part and connected to second part by a fold line.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments with respect to claims have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Conclusion

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
